Cindy Lindy and her family owned a store. The Lindys sold many item's. Cindy's store was very popular. The customer's just loved the merchandise and bought sofas, appliances, and statue's. The Lindy's store offered many sale's. Cindys three sisters friends enjoyed browsing throughout the stores many department's. They would drive from all over the city in their Honda's. Cindys' friend, Chris, did not own any car's so she always rode in taxi's to the Lindys store. Once she arrived she would exclaim, "I just love your store, Cindy! Its just great! Your a super friend!"

Then Cindy's other friends' noticed the fine restaurant's and cafés. Lets order banana's, pizzas, candy's, and cola's. You're menu's look super!"

After their fine meals', Cindys sisters friends stomach's we're full, so they decided to leave the Lindys store and get some quick tattoo's and videos. Then, Chris' taxi arrived to transport the crazy lady's home!

"What are you're plans for you're next visit?" Cindy asked her friends as they got in the car. Its too early to tell Chris responded. "Youll have to wait until next week!"

Before she knew it, Cindys friends taxi sped off into the distance Cindy waved at her friends as they slowly disappeared from her sight.

"I sure am going to miss my friends" Cindy sighed as she turned to head back into her house. "Their the most awesomeist friends I have." Cindy couldnt wait until they're next visit. "At least you have you're family!" Cindy Lindys sister Mindy called out to her. Cindy was reminded of how much she appreciated her family, she ran right up to Mindy and gave her a big hug! "That's the most fastest ive ever seen you run!" Mindy chuckled at Cindy.
