

My Thesis

So you've done some research, you know some important information about your topic, you have answered many of your questions, and you think you have a good idea of what you'd like to write about.

In the space below, write down the Subject, Direction, and 3 Reasons that will make up your Thesis Statement. Remember the S+D+3R method!

Subject:

Direction:

3 Reasons:

Reason 1

Reason 2

Reason 3

My Thesis Statement Is...

My Examples to Back it Up (Sub-Reasons)

In order to improve the Ideas in your paper, you need to add more information! List 3 examples that will help support each of your 3 Reasons. These will function like sub-topics, and we will refer to them as your "Sub-Reasons".

Reason 1	Reason 2	Reason 3
1.	1.	1.
2.	2.	2.
3.	3.	3.
